CITY AGAIN IS TRANQUIL AFTER STRENUOUS 4TH

Community Picnics, Baseball and Motor Parties Feature Observance of Day.

Once more Richmonders are back on the job and engaged in their daily pursuits, none the worse for wear, but some very tired, after their participation in a very strenuous, though safe and sane, Fourth of July.

The community picnic held yesterday at Highland Park under the auspices of the Highland Park Citizens' Association was the greatest event in the history of that suburb. Thousands attended the festivities, and the contests were so close that awards had not been made at a late hour, as the judges were still deliberating.

The Community Recreation Association, which is in charge of the picnic, is a very active organization, and its members are very interested in the welfare of the community.

GOVERNMENT PLANS WORK AT ITS AVIATION STATION

May Erect 200,000-Gallon Water
Tank and Install 1,000-Gallon
Pump at Fulton Depot.

Bids for the erection of a 200,000-gallon water tank and the installation of a 1,000-gallon pump, fire mains, hydrants and fire walls at the United States Aviation Depot, near Fulton, are now being considered by the construction department.

Further it is reported that the Federal government is making inquiries concerning the erection of an aviation depot of a dozen large air-planes hangars, and that bids on the work of airframe erection will be asked some time this summer.

Bids have already been asked by the government on 25,000 feet of white pine lumber, which it is believed, will be used in the erection of the hangars.

Purchase by the government of a considerable tract of land, which has been leased by the depot for an aviation field, has been confirmed by officials at the plant.

The hangar at the depot are now filled with airplanes, ready for use, except that the wings must be attached and the engines installed. There are also three immense hangars, each 1,000 feet in length.

Eight new airplanes arrived at the plant last week.

The construction of the depot, which will connect the Richmond Chemical Works and the Chesapeake and Potomac Rivers, in Richmond, will be a great advantage to the aviation plant.

Although the depot is now in the hands of the government, it is in a very poor state of completion.

COUNCIL WILL CONSIDER IMPORTANT ORDINANCES

Memorial Library and Six-Cent
Fare Matters to Come Up
Tonight.

Members of the Common Council will have before them tonight possibly the largest docket ever considered by them at one time.

Some of the matters coming up are of a nature most important, and, as the session is a regular one, all the matters will have to be acted upon unless they be put off for another month or for a special meeting, by suspension of the rules.

Any effort to delay the legislation to come before the body will meet with opposition as there has been an immense amount of delay in some branches already.

Discussion of the figure for gas will be the first matter to be considered, according to program. The Council has passed the gas ordinance once, amending the report of the Finance Committee from $1.35 to $1.25.

The ordinance went to the Board of Aldermen, who agreed with the Finance Committee and sent the matter back to the Common Council amended to $1.35. A fight is expected on the floor of the Council over the matter, and it may go back to the Aldermen with another amendment attached.

The second matter of importance will be the proposed six-cent fare for the Virginia Railway and Power Company, which will be reported with the approval of the Finance Committee. Some few of the members have expressed themselves as opposed to the measure.

A majority of them, however, favor the six-cent fare, with few voting for a five-cent rate. The ordinance is expected to pass on its first reading.

Making the Ford lot a gift to the State in order that a suitable memorial for the soldiers of the great war may be erected in the form of an auditorium and library, will be another matter of importance to the State Senate, which will advocate the ordinance before the body.

A majority of the councilmen are in favor of the auditorium and will vote for the measure. There are a few who oppose it, and a spirited fight may take place.

When the city gives the Ford lot to the State the State cedes the city a fifteen-foot strip of Capitol Square in return.

Practically every business organization in the city is in favor of the ordinance, and the members who oppose the action will be in the minority.

How the Ford lot is to be used in Virginia figured in the campaign waged at San Francisco to secure the independence of the Democratic National Convention for the "Republic of Ireland," will be discussed at a meeting of Patrick Henry Branch, which will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the headquarters of the organization, Arcade Building, Fourth Street, between Broad and Grace.

D. C. O'Flaherty and M. C. G. Finnigan are delegates from Richmond.

Are Prices Coming Down?

SINCE this series started, men have said to us: "We believe prices are fair considering what merchants pay for their goods. But they're too high, nevertheless."

Judging by the purchasing power of the 1914 dollar, they are. But a dozen things have put them where they are this summer, and we can't see much hope for a downward march just yet.

A man said the other day: "I was mighty foolish a year ago. I had an idea that the way to help bring down prices was to quit buying. Now I have to fit myself out from tip to toe, and I must pay a whole lot more than if I had kept buying—or bought everything early."

That man's experience has been duplicated thousands of times, and other men will fall into the same error by delaying their purchasing now.

Prices, unfortunately, are still on the upgrade.

Buy now, but buy wisely. Buy the necessities of life. Cut out the luxuries till the production of the country reaches normal. Buy the things that are easy to make. Buy quality goods—things that will give you service primarily rather than things that give you only good appearance.

And remember in your talks on the H. C. L.—

COAL SHORTAGE EXISTS. THOUGH MORE IS MINED

Production 40,100,000 Tons Greater in 1920 Than for Same Period in 1919.

Despite the fact that Richmond coal dealers are practically unable to obtain coal, which to supply their customers and satisfy the demands of trade, the United States Geological Survey has shown that the first 116 days of 1920, 40,100,000 tons more coal was produced than during the same period in 1919.

The total output of coal during the first 116 days of the year has been 21,717,000 tons, as compared with 21,717,000 tons in 1919.

Production of coal, however, in the corresponding period in 1918 was 25,547,000 tons, the report shows.

These figures show that the output of coal so far this year, as compared with the output of the corresponding period of 1917 and 1918, is 24,000 tons behind the output for 1919.

Estimates of the bureau, the statement shows, are based on the reports of 137 coalfields in the United States, which handle soft coal and mines exporting anthracite as furnished by the American Railroad Association.

High School Alumni to Meet.
